RE: Executive Summary – Sequence in Project Management for the M.S. in Technology

The Sequence in Project Management formalizes a program currently available as a concentration within the Master of Science (MS) program in Technology. Concentrations are only advisory. Changing this to a sequence through the curricular process will cause requirements to be specifically stated in the Graduate Catalog and the name of the sequence will appear on the student's transcript. Approximately 60% of enrolled students in the M.S. program have been pursuing coursework in Project Management.

The 9 hours of courses for the sequence core are currently being offered and also constitute the course work for the Graduate Certificate in Project Management.
