The Human Development and Family Science Sequence prepares students to provide educational, preventive and intervention services to individuals and families which enhance personal, family and community well-being. Students develop the skills needed to assist people of all ages achieve individual and family well-being through coursework and applied learning experiences.

Due to COVID circumstances, the UCC and GCC Chair approval of the proposal also implies approval of the FIF form.

4. Provide a rationale of proposed program.

Currently, Human Development and Family Science is one major, with no sequences. With the creation of a new Human Development and Family Science Accelerated Sequence, it is necessary to create a Human Development and Family Science sequence for students who are not enrolled in the Accelerated Sequence. The two sequences will comprise the Human Development and Family Science major.

5. Describe the expected effects of the proposed program on existing campus programs (if applicable).

No changes are being made that will affect other existing programs. Students are already enrolled in the Human Development and Family Science major. This change merely separates the major into two sequences.

6. Provide a sample four year plan of study demonstrating that a student could realistically complete the program requirements in a specific number of semesters.

7. Describe the expected curricular changes required, including new courses. If proposals for new courses have also been submitted, please reference those related proposals here:

No curricular changes are required. This sequence is merely a nomenclature change from the Human Development and Family Science major. No curricular changes were made to the Human Development and Family Science major, which is becoming the Human Development and Family Science sequence under this proposal.

8. Anticipated funding needs and source of funds.

There are no anticipated funding needs. This is simply a nomenclature change in that the Human Development and Family Science major will become two sequences - Human Development and Family Science sequence and Human Development and Family Science Accelerated sequence (in another proposal). It does not require additional faculty or course offerings.
